"Facing The Music" Will Be Attraction This Evening

"Facing the Music" played to a packed house at the High school auditorium in Charleroi last night, and may be seen tonight at the local High school auditorium. This exceedingly interesting, attractive and catchy English farce comedy is being staged under the personal direction of Jas. S. Russell, chief clerk at the Pittsburgh Steel company, for the benefit of the local hospital. The auxiliaries in the two towns have charge of the enterprise, five of the players being from Charleroi and four from Monessen.

Reports of the great success of the first performance of "Facing the Music" was received from a committee of visitation sent over to the Magic City last night, not a committee from the local ministerial association, but one of citizens interested both in the players and the cause for which they are working.

It is expected the local High school will be filled tonight because of the wide acquaintance and popularity of the players in the cast from this side of the river. Hugh Smythe of Monessen, who takes the part of John Smith, the man who finally faces the music, has the leading part and does exceedingly well. W. O. Williams, timekeeper and known as "Red" at the mill, plays the part of John Smith's old uncle and pleases everybody who knows him. Then Miss Amelia Patrick upholds her reputation as an amateur actress of ability in this play in an admirable manner. John Leverine is the fourth local player and takes the other John Smith part satisfactorily to the audience.

In fact the whole play is built upon some exceedingly interesting and complicated conditions arising over the name of Smith, involving the wives, relations and guests.

The musical part of the program, between the second and third acts, consists of several numbers and solos by the Sterling quartet, of which "our own" Watson Johns is a member. Miss Margaret E. Grimm of Braddock, pleases greatly with soprano solos between the first and second acts.

Coming, Thursday, Nov. 18, the $500,000 production, not long but wonderful—"The Campbells are Coming," featuring Francis Ford and Grace Cunard and a brilliant supporting cast with 2,500 people. Love war, romance and thrilling action. It stirs your every emotion in multiplied reels of thrilling photo play, a wonderful story of the relief of Sue Know India 1857, Broadway Universal feature. It must be remembered that for this production the Universal Co. has paid $11,700 for the carpenters alone, and used 11,000 pounds of powder. Think of it. It is next to the "Birth of a Nation."——Olympic. 1t

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

—The Select M. H. S. Dippy Dolls organized last night at the home of Miss Cecelia McGinty on Knox avenue. The house was appropriately decorated in the club colors, sky blue pink and grass green violet and the girls wore Dippi Doll costumes They chose for their motto "Want of Dippiness." A dainty dippy lunch was served by the hostess and all departed early in time to go to bed, voting that they had a most enjoyable evening.

—Five tables were in play at the home of Mrs. Harry Watt of McKee avenue when Mrs. Watt and Mrs. C. L. Lewis jointly entertained their many friends at bridge. Fancy work and music was indulged in by those who did not play bridge. Luncheon was served by the hostesses.

—Mrs. George T. Barben was hostess to the Evening Bridge club at her home on Fourth street, last evening. Four tables were in play. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

—Miss Lou Boore entertained the teachers' sewing club at her home on Linden avenue last evening. Fancy work was the principal diversion of the evening and luncheon was served.

—A delightful euchre and luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. C. Ryan on Donner avenue Wednesday evening. Twenty guests were in attendance.

Has Relative Here

William Stanley (Bud) Ayers, the chauffeur for F. E. Foster of Syracuse, N. Y., whose arrest in Pittsburgh for passing an alleged bogus check disclosed his alleged elopement with Foster's wife, was given a hearing before Magistrate Sweeney in Central court yesterday morning. Ayes told of his association with Mrs. Foster He said that Foster had hired him when Ayers was "down and out" and that Foster had insisted on Ayers staying at the Foster home.

Ayers declared that after he left the employ of the Fosters, he went to a hotel. He said that Mrs. Foster called him by telephone and hired him to drive her to her mother's home in Meadowville. On the way, he asys, they decided to run away, both get divorces and marry. Ayres, according to his own story, was to obtain work in Pittsburgh and Mrs. Foster was to stop with a relative in this city.

Ayers was committed to jail late yesterday afternoon, but unless his wife or Foster prosecutes him, he will be released. The automobile dealer to whom Ayers is alleged to have given a bogus check in payment for a tire, has been given the tire and will not prosecute.

The case was complicated by a letter from Ayer's wife in Albany, N. Y., who asked that he be held until the arrival of her attorney. The letter states that Ayers was employed by his wife as a chauffeur before they were married.

Ayers says he was married last January in Atlantic City, his wife being the divorced wife of J E. Smith, of Albany, by whom she is now employed as housekeeper.

CHALLENGE WRESTLERS

W. P. Bonecki, the champion Polish wrestler, was in town this morning and issued a challenge to meet any wrestler in this vicinity. He is desirous of securing a match with one of the local Greek wrestlers, and states that if no heavy-weight wrestler can be secured he will take on two, three or four middle weights, agreeing to throw them within an hour. Mr. Bonecki is visiting with friends in Donora and any challenge sent to him at the Lawrence hotel there will receive attention

In a recent match at Johnstown, Bonecki, who tips the scales at 194 pounds, broke thre ribs of his opponent and the match was suddenly ended. Wednesday of this week he met Jack Davis at New Kensington and the two men wrestled for one hour and twelve minutes, when Davis suddenly made a jump for Bonecki and fell from the stage injuring his leg in such a manner that the match was called off.

Acquitted

The court room of Judge Copeland was crowded yesterday when the case of Constable A. J. Smith of this city charged with entering the store room of Albert Ritzconte and taking a quantity of goods came up for a hearing. In the trial Ritzconte stated that he was an assistant foreman in the tube mill, that he had been a resident of this city for six years and that on April last he opened a small store here He got back in his rent and Constable Smith served a landlord's warrant and billed his stock of goods for sale on October 27, but that on October 22 Smith entered his store and took cigars, cigarettes and other articles to the extent of $50

In defense the constable had witnesses present to prove that on the night of the supposed robbery he was at work graining Attorney Adam Wyant defended Smith and his closing arguments were of such a nature that when the jury retired, it required but thirteen minutes for them to bring in a verdict acquitting the constable.

Interesting Lecture

The High school auditorium was crowded this morning with school children, teachers and patrons to hear the lecture on the Trans-Continental Telephone line by Mr. G. W. Benford of the C. D Telephone company. Mr. Benford gave a very interesting lecture on the progress of the telephone and with the assistance of 57 stereopticon slides and a reel of motion pictures demonstrated the rapid steps that have been made in the modes of communication, beginning with the carrier pigeon to the opening of the great line from New York City to San Francisco The lecture lasted for one hour and proved instructive as well as entertaining

NO COURT NEXT WEEK

There will be no criminal court next week. For the first time in fifteen years of the county the work of criminal court has been accomplished in a single week.

President Judge Lucien W Doty announced Wednesday evening that court would adjourn Saturday until Monday, Nov 22, when a long list of civil cases will be heard.

The August list of civil cases was continued over to the November term and the list is exceptionally large.

—Tomorrow, Saturday, our show is of the biggest with three reels of Bison one comedy of Charlie Chaplin and one comedy of Joker and "The Diamond From the Sky"—Olympic. 1t

Monessen PA OLYMPIC HOME OF THE PIPE DREAM

Coming Friday, Nov. 19—One of the Metro Pictures Corporation wonderful productions—Francis X Bushman, the celebrated stage star with the exquisite artist, Marguerite Snow in an admirable vehicle, "The Second in Command." The manager of the Olympic takes great pride in announcing such great productions for Monessen. He was wandering all this week around the Ohio popular cities such as Canton, Akron, Youngstown, Cleveland, and it must be said truthfully that there was no theatre better or even equal to the Olympic in general appearance, outside or inside But all they were with no exception inferior in presenting their picture on their screens. Olympic stands away above in perfectness of its pictures on the screen and it has the most complete program of any theatre of any place. This is the truth and only. 1t

New Road Dangerous Section May Be Condemned

The new state highway connecting Monongahela and Finleyville is practically completed and is now open for traffic. It is one of the best roads in the state and is a temptation to automobile drivers to try out the speed of their cars. Through this fact the road is considered extremely dangerous, not that it would not be safe enough under ordinary conditions but there are several bad turns in it and persons unfamiliar with the district are very likely to "pile their machines on the rocks," according to the Monongahela Times.

A number of accidents have already occurred on the road and it is feared that fatalities may result near Lank's hill, one of the bad places in the road.

This week A L Dievart of Monongahela, driving his new Chalmers Six had a narrow escape, when his machine failed to round the turn and was wrecked It is understood that the machine turned over. Workmen went to the scene and righted the machine and brought it home. It was little the worst for the experience. Another man lost control of his machine on the road and tried to knock over a telephone post.

These are only two of a dozen accidents that have already occurred on the new road Another particularly dangerous point is where the road passes under the bridge There is little clearance space at this point and drivers are compelled to exercise caution taken to prevent accidents. In the words of the famous old Irish section hand, "it's only going to be a short time until some fast driver is going to miss that hole." The bridge and approach will be painted white and every precaution taken to prevent accidents It has been officially predicted that it will only be a short time until a section of the road near Lank Hill will be condemned as too dangerous for use.

Should Be Prepared

In a stirring address to a private party of newspaper men, J. Stuart Blackton, author and producer of the great preparedness film "The Battle Cry of Peace" said that the final salvation of the country would be up to the country newspaper. "If the rural newspaper, the country weekly and the small town daily, get behind in the preparedness movement and demand action by Congress," Blackton said, "then we will see an appropriation during this season that will be a good starter. Of course to get anywhere we will need a series of appropriations—a program for navy and army, which spread over a period of years, will give us eventually what protection we need. But if the small town newspaper refuses to call for preparedness, and prefers "pork" instead, the movement will fail. The protection of America is in the hands of the country editor."

Mr. Blackton's speech for preparedness followed the viewing by newspaper men of the film "The Battle Cry of Peace," in which the author shows how helpless the United States would be in case of attack by a foreign foe. New York streets are bombarded, homes are attacked, women and children terrified and fathers taken out, lined up against a wall and shot. The handful of American soldiers are a joke to the invaders and enemy ships stand off our shores, out of range of our guns, and batter to pieces our coast defenses. "These possibilities are not without the basis of fact," said Mr. Blackton, in his address. "Instead of being a sleeping giant, we are a helpless babe. The dream of universal peace has been shattered by the European nations and will again be shattered. We have learned that nations will break solemn treaties when they think it to their advantage to do so. The world is but little different from what is was a thousand years ago. But we, in the democracy of the United States, are full partners. The responsibility of government and the salvation of the nation is on every citizen. Every citizen should be able to transfer himself into a soldier for the defense of his country. This is not imperialistic; it is the very essence of a democracy that would live."

A Story of Mystery and Adventure

rival at the hidden door of the lost treasure of Gretzhoffen As he bowed himself out he scarce could conceal the satisfaction on his face

Sachio was an alert and active soul. His was no haphazard intellect, apt to accept the dictum of a mind less exact than his own He was a soldier first, and next a diplomat, but all the time a model secret agent, a typical spy and detective. He now set about the business in hand, deliberately, with precision, methodically, so that he need not do any task a second time

He himself had sketched a rough map of the lower galleries as he fancied them to lie He calculated now that with the aid of this chart and his own earlier acquaintance with these subterranean chambers, it would be easy to find the last door that lay between him and the buried treasure of Gretzhoffen.

What scenes of horror these places must have held Sachio did not pause to ask. That souls had passed out there through these cold walls of stone, that human flesh had quivered here in torment and human voices broken in their anguish, meant naught to him A king had seen fit to surround his treasures with such terrors in order to fence away all intruders He had buried these treasures under the very floor of his torture chamber so that all might fear to intrude there in their search. Some might be deterred by such fears—but not Sachio of Grahoffen. He walked on calmly, unmoved, sure that his own persistence, his own cunning, had defeated the purpose of the dead king, whose methods so long had defied the avarice and greed of these two kingdoms

Sachio lost little time in the earlier portions of the subterranean galleries, and satisfied himself only that he was not being pursued. Soon he arrived upon the lower levels, where he did not expect to meet disturbance. Now came the crux of his search.

He made his way slowly along the darkened channels carved at some unknown day from the granite rock on which stood the Gretzhoffen castle, tried door after door, and entered chamber after chamber, slowly, methodically, with no enthusiasm, but only the air of a man covering all possible mischances in his search

He looked most carefully in that portion of the vaults where he had found the half of the torn parchment, but got no further trace of the missing portion This gave him a certain pause, for he had figured that the broken coin and the broken parchment would correlate, would focus, somewhere nearly at the same point. But the stained and mildewed walls, still damp from their recent floodings, gave him but cold encouragement whichever way he turned. Any soul but his would have felt the chill of such environment

"So" said he to himself, standing irresolute at last, and finding himself unable to decide what next to do. "My map has the misfortune of having been made from the imagination and not from facts in hand. But now—see, here the way forks"

Before him now lay a series of galleries still damp from the recent flooding from the moat. It was Sachio's theory, based upon he knew not what, that the treasure chamber must lie somewhere under the moat, that the flood gates must have been devised for some purpose of protecting it. He acted upon that theory now, and with no better guide than the greater dampness of the rock floors which he followed, he wandered on hour after hour.

At length he paused, helpless, puzzled, dumfounded. He had taken a wrong turn somewhere in this labyrinth of underground channels! He had not even found the water gates which had flooded these levels so recently. He had found no new recesses in the rocky walls. He had found nothing which in the least compared itself with the map he now held in his hand! The cold sweat broke out upon his forehead even in these icy depths.

"My God!" said Sachio of Grahoffen to himself, "I have failed"

Yes, Sachio had failed. He knew what that meant. Death was to be his portion for his failure. Would it come in one swift stroke at the hand of his monarch, moved by the frenzy of his disappointment? Or, would it come in the slow torture of deliberate revenge, wrought on him for that failure in the fiendish ingenuity of the icy soul of Cortislaw?

"I have failed," said Sachio to himself, "and through my own fault! I had success in my grasp and threw it away. That girl could have told me everything, and I sent her away—beyond all reach—out of our country! With her gone, we have no hope remaining—we never shall find it ourselves. She alone now could save my life—she whom I mistreated—and she whom I sent away."

"And Count Frederick," he went on, still musing to himself "He was my enemy, and is today—but something tells me that he also has the clue. If he were here, I could wheedle or threaten him. Perhaps he is with her; who knows? And I have sent her away! Did ever a man gain aught by bullying a woman? Fair speech with them—or the bowstring—those are the only ways. I am sentenced, doomed, and by my own fault."

Discouraged, baffled, perhaps after all, affected by the gloom of these surroundings, he turned back at last. Somewhere near him he knew, somewhere perhaps not a biscuit toss away, measured by distance in the open air, lay a dark cloistered space, the chamber of tortures, grim in its secrets, its floor perhaps piled with broken bones, its walls perhaps hung full of the old machinery for parting flesh and soul in lingering agony. Was it indeed true that the lost souls in that hidden chamber had wiped out the trace of it and left the surface of all these walls alike?

Count Sachio could feel the needles and pincers of hot steel tearing at his own soul

"Gone!" said he, to himself, "gone! And 'twas I who sent her away."

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel

Dr Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists

LUNG-RACKING COUGH

Yields to Our Cod Liver and Iron Remedy, Vinol

To the people of Monessen we make this offer—Come to our store and buy a bottle of Vinol, if it does not cure your chronic cough or hang-on cold, we will give your money back Read this convincing letter.

"For seven years I had a lung racking cough which made sleep impossible, and caused great distress. I also had asthma. I was obliged to sit up all night for a week at a time. I spent a great deal of money in search of relief, but failed until I used Vinol, but it has acted like a charm I can lie down and sleep all night without coughing, and one night's rest such as I now enjoy is priceless. Since I have taken Vinol I have no cough or symptoms of asthma, and it is a genuine pleasure to testify to the excellence of Vinol." W. B. McMurtie, Station Agent, M. & O. Ry. HOME OF THE PIPE ORGAN

Following is the Olympic program for this week. Read it over:

REGULAR PROGRAM

FRIDAY—"The Right of Way," featuring William Faversham. Also a good comedy.

SATURDAY — "The Superior Claim," a three reel western drama with Bainbridge, Edythe Sterling and Rex de Rosell. "A Day at Midland Beach" a comedy with Max Asher.

SPECIAL PROGRAM

FRIDAY—B A. Rolfe presents the most commanding figure on the American stage, Mr. William Faversham, aided by the charming actress, Miss June Grey. A superb and sterling production of the stirring tale of the limitless north woods, "The Right of Way," from the novel and play of the same name, by Sir Gilbert Parker. The story of a man who repays a debt. Who believes in an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and who knowing the guilt of a man, saves that man and then suffers a return of scruples and orders the other man out of his life, saying. "Go away, you dog You are as guilty as Hell" William Faversham in "The Right of Way" is an epoch of supreme importance in the universe of photodrama It brings the foremost dramatic star forward in the foremost novelist's greatest and most impressive tale.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Louisville Ky—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon, but I refused as I do not believe in operations. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."—Mrs. J. M. Resch, 1900 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner"

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
